TO FORMER STUDENTS AND FRIENDS OF ROSE PHELPS:

I am sure that all of you will be saddened to know that Rose Phelps is seriously ill of cancer. She had planned to attend my retirement festivities but wrote that she had to go to the hospital instead. While there she called me and I learned how serious her illness was. Knowing that I would be out of the country teaching for two years in Tehran, Iran, I flew out to Phoenix to see her for three days. She was then back in the health center of the Orange-wood Baptist Retirement Center where she and May Smith share an apartment. That is also where her sister, Mrs. Alice Culver lives.

Rose was strong enough for me to visit her for short periods several times a day. She had wanted to send a taped message to all of you to be shared at the Alumni meeting in New York. However, this has turned out to be too great an effort for her. She is failing rapidly.

She is very proud of the things each of you are accomplishing and hopes that your leadership will help to keep the profession moving forward in the years to come. She sends her love and greetings to all of you. I am sure she would be glad to hear from you.

Miss Rose Phelps
c/o Mrs. Alice Culver

Alice Lohrer

WINDSOR LECTURES IN LIBRARIANSHIP

The 1975 Windsor lecturer will be Heinz Von Foerster, recently retired Professor in the departments of Electrical Engineering and Biophysics at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. While Dr. Von Foerster is a physical scientist by training, his research and interests have involved him in the exploration of the peculiar relation between the observer and the observed. In 1959, he was awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship to study the neurophysiology of his "enigmatic observer." Over the last twenty-five years, he had become increasingly involved with the anthropological aspects of man and has been an active force in a number of anthropological research groups. In his research and thinking, Dr. Von Foerster has probed into exciting and complex areas of man that require the mind of both the physical scientist and of the social scientist, if indeed not also of the humanist.

The series of two lectures, entitled "Dialogue in a New Key." will be given on Monday, September 22 and Monday, September 29 in Room 66 of the University of Illinois Library, Urbana. Both lectures will be at 8:00 p.m.

The Phineas L. Windsor Lectures are given each year in memory of Mr. Windsor, who was Director of the University of Illinois Library and Library School from 1909-1940. Mr. Windsor died in 1965. A lecture fund was established from the contributions received from thousands of alumni of the Library School at the time of Mr. Windsor's retirement.

REPORT OF THE 1974 ANNUAL MEETING

On Wednesday evening, July 10, 1974, alumni and guests met in the Tower Suite of the Time & Life Building in Rockefeller Center in New York for a cocktail reception. Recent and earlier graduates found that the informal gathering permitted them to linger for as long or as short a time as other commitments allowed.

Those present agreed that the officers for 1973-74 continue in their respective offices for 1974-75.

Letters of greeting to retired faculty of the Graduate School of Library Science were sent.

Respectfully submitted,

John M. Littlewood
Secretary-Treasurer

The Robert B. Downs Publication Fund Series

The alumni of the Graduate School of Library Science established a fund in honor of Robert B. Downs to support the publication of checklists and other descriptions of the special collections in the University of Illinois Library. Three numbers in the Robert B. Downs Publication Fund have been published:

James L. Harner. Ex Libris F. S. Ferguson. A Checklist of the F. S. Ferguson Collection of Scottish Imprints and Scotica at the University of Illinois. No. 1

Jean A. Major. Collections Acquired by the University of Illinois Library at Urbana-Champaign, 1897-1974. No. 2

Larkin B. Price. A Checklist of the Proust Holdings at the University of Illinois Library at Urbana-Champaign. No. 3

Plans for a checklist of the Library's fine collection of Japanese rare books are well advanced, and we expect to publish other numbers on collections in the Illinois Historical Survey Library and the Rare Book Room.

We hope that library school alumni will be pleased with the first issue of the series and will continue to support it. Orders for individual numbers of the Robert B. Downs Publication Fund, and gifts to support the series, may be sent to the alumni association treasurer on the form below. Gifts included with an order or sent separately are tax deductible; they will be forwarded to the University of Illinois Foundation, which will send a receipt. Gifts of any size will be most gratefully received.

REPORT OF THE 1975 ANNUAL MEETING

On Wednesday evening, July 2, 1975, an unexpectedly large number of alumni and guests met in the Carnelian Room atop the Bank of America Center in San Francisco for a cocktail reception. The group was indebted to Rosalie Cuneo Amer for making the arrangements for the meeting quarters with its panoramic view of the city and its surrounding waters. It was a good place in which to reminisce, renew acquaintanceships, and enjoy each other's company.

Those present agreed that the officers for 1974-75 continue in their respective offices for 1975-76.

Letters of greeting to retired faculty of the Graduate School of Library Science were sent.

Respectfully submitted,

John M. Littlewood
Secretary-Treasurer

PLACEMENT PROCEDURES FOR RELEASING CREDENTIALS

Because placement procedures have changed considerably in the past two years, all alumni who wish to have credentials sent out by the office are requested to please check first on the status of them. Any credentials to be released are to be up-to-date as to further graduate study, employment record, and references. The School's policy for several years has been not to release the faculty evaluations of course work if the degree had been taken five or more years previously, and they have now been dropped altogether, in accordance with University policy and the federal 1974 Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act. Under it the alumnus or student solicits the letters of reference to be included in the placement file and must sign a waiver permitting release of the file.

The University of Illinois LIBRARY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

HELLO--AGAIN!

ALUMNI DAY #5

After a hiatus of four years, the News Letter of the University of Illinois Library School Association is pleased to resume publication. We hope to continue this trend with an annual issue as part of an effort to revitalize the Association. More on this will be forthcoming in the next issue.

The focus of the News Letter will continue to be information from and about alumni. The newly-created GSLS Newsletter is devoted primarily to activities of the School and of the faculty. Thus the two newsletters will complement each other to provide complete coverage about the School and the people associated with it.

Because of the number of years which have elapsed since the last News Letter was published, quite a large backlog of news items has accumulated. In fact, much is no longer "news." Nevertheless, it was decided to catch up on everything with this issue, and try to keep up-to-date in the future.

You are encouraged to keep the GSLS informed of your activities, both personal and professional. The "clearinghouse" for news, address changes, jobs, etc. is the Placement Office of the Library School, where Rita Bartholomew (MS '76), Assistant to the Dean, serves as placement and alumni relations officer. Her mailing address is 410 David Kinley Hall, and her telephone is 217-333-0734.

The fifth annual "homecoming" for GSLS alumni was held on Saturday, October 25, 1980, with 95 persons gathering at the Ramada Inn Convention Center in Champaign. The event is sponsored jointly by the Library School and Alpha Chapter of Beta Phi Mu.

Theme for the day, which combined social aspects with continuing education, was "Public Services: The Implications of Current Trends in Technical Services." Outstanding leaders in library and information science explored the impact of such developments as ISBD and AACR-2 in cataloging, and of LCS and OCLC in library applications of automation. Featured speakers were Michael Gorman, Director of Technical Services at the UI Library and co-editor of AACR-2, James E. Rush, former Director of Research for OCLC and now a consultant, and Arnold S. Wajenberg, Principal Cataloguer, UI Library and AACR-2 educator. A panel of GSLS graduates, representing public, academic, school, and special libraries, and library systems and networks, commented on the anticipated effects of these innovations on their particular type of library.

COMING SOON

A SABBATICAL IN JAMAICA

*Herbert Goldhor

Through a mutual friend, I was invited to spend the academic year of 1978/79 at the Department of Library Studies, University of the West Indies, Mona Campus, Kingston, Jamaica. I wanted to repeat two studies which I had previously done in U.S. libraries; for best results I needed a good public library, but in another country in order to see if I got the same results in a different setting. I had heard of the work of the Jamaica Library Service, and was assured of the cooperation of the Kingston and St. Andrew Parish Library.

Thus it was that I spent most of my time from September 1978 through May 1979 at the UWI, except for the month of November, when I was asked by UNESCO to visit the library school at the University of Brasilia, in the capital city of Brazil. That was a noteworthy experience in itself, inasmuch as Brasilia is a planned city only 20 years old and already with almost one million people.

Jamaica turned out to be a most fortuitous choice for a sabbatical year. The climate was fantastic; it didn't bother me at all to skip one whole winter (and the winter of 1978/79 was a good one to miss). The temperature never dropped below 70 degrees. Not that I spent all my time at the beach; the campus is several miles from the south shore of Jamaica, and the tourist resorts (and best beaches) are mostly on the north shore.

The people in the Department of Library Studies and in the University Library were fine librarians. We became great friends, and I shall long remember them all with fondness. Daphne Douglas, head of the Department, gave me an office just off the library school library, a half-time research assistant, access to the UWI computer, and a share in the use of the Department's Volkswagon. The one main thing she asked of me in return was to teach a one-week course in May on research methods for practicing librarians. Other than that assignment I devoted myself full-time to research. I had brought two reports with me to be finished; this was done and they have both been published. I also sketched out two new studies which I hope to do some day, but most of my time was devoted to three studies of the Kingston and St. Andrew Parish Library.

One of these was an analysis of the daily circulation of the Kingston Parish Library for 1977/78. I found, among other things, that juvenile circulation fluctuated more widely than did either adult fiction or adult non-fiction, that a holiday (when the library was closed) had more influence on the circulation of the day after than of the day before, that Saturday was the busiest day of the week and Thursday the least busy, and that a sample of six days a year (stratified by day of the week and for each two-month period) closely reflected the whole year's circulation both in total sum and in percentage composition by juvenile, adult fiction and adult non-fiction.

The second and third studies were interrelated. Both were done of adult books in individual biography. About 300 titles were chosen at random and notes taken on all observable characteristics (e.g., number of pages, date of publication, date of acquisition, number of loans per year, whether rebound by the library, having a plastic cover over the printed jacket, etc.). We then checked each title in 20 different reviewing journals, book selection tools, and retrospective bibliographies in order to get an estimate of the "quality" of each book. The central question to be answered is whether the best books are the most read. An earlier study in the Evansville (Indiana) Public Library concluded that the answer is "No." The Jamaica data confirm this finding ten years later, in a different subject field, and in libraries almost a thousand miles apart.

The third study involved 115 of the 300 biography books, chosen because they had circulated the least (less than once a year in the last five years). For three months we recorded every loan of these books, and asked patrons returning any of them to answer a brief questionnaire (How much of the book did you read? How did you happen to select it? Are you glad you borrowed it?). Then for the next three months, we ran two experiments, and continued to monitor all loans. Fifty-five books, chosen at random, were put in a prime display location under a sign, "Some Good Books You May Have Missed"; these books were borrowed eight times as often in the second three-month period as in the first three months and as in the last five years, the same result we had found in a similar study done earlier in the Champaign Public Library. In Jamaica, however, we went one step further; 30 of the remaining 60 books were described in a booklet of which 1000 copies were distributed, but the books (and the final 30 titles, which served as a control group) were left on their regular places on the shelves. I had predicted that circulation of booklist titles would not be affected, but I was wrong; the number of loans in the three months of the experiment was four times larger than in the three preceding months and in the last five years. The 30 control books had exactly the same number of loans in the second three months as in the first. My problem now is to find the factor or factors which caused these two groups of books to increase in circulation. I would like to hear from any of you alumni who have relevant experiences, insights, or opinions to offer me.

GREETINGS FROM WINIFRED LADLEY

Professor Emerita Winifred Ladley sent news of her current activities on the occasions of the 1978 and 1979 Alumni Homecoming Days. The editor hopes former students of Miss Ladley's will enjoy the following account.

After retiring from the Library School in September 1973, Miss Ladley taught for a year at the College of Librarianship, Aberystwyth, Wales, before settling in Portland, Oregon. She spent three and a half years there, keeping busy by teaching two summers at Portland State University and spending many hours in the Portland and Beaverton schools telling stories as a volunteer in their enrichment programs for elementary and junior high schools. In March 1978 she moved to the Seattle, Washington, area.

Seattle is now benefitting from her presence. In the summer of 1978 she spent every Thursday in various Seattle parks telling stories as a volunteer in their summer recreational program. Her principal activity, however, is her volunteer work for the Washington Regional Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, an arm of the Seattle Public Library. Among its many services is an extensive Radio Reading Service, broadcasting from its own channel seven days a week. Miss Ladley has a 30-minute weekly program of her own for which she has complete freedom of choice of content. The programs are all taped for broadcast, and many are also converted to cassettes for circulation from the library. Miss Ladley also tapes entire books, for the most part very recent publications or older books not available from the Library of Congress, which are broadcast in one-hour segments five days a week, and are also available on cassettes for circulation to the blind. She continues to do a number of "live" story hours, but is trying to limit this because of the demands of her radio work.

Miss Ladley hastens to add that she is not too busy for relaxation! Seattle has several professional theater groups, a symphony orchestra and opera, and a wealth of scenic beauty and recreational opportunities.

NEW LIFE MEMBERS

Since leaving Urbana, she has also done a lot of traveling--in Russia, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Austria, France, Germany, the United Kingdom, the Canary Islands, and Africa on safari to many game parks. She concludes that, "all in all, retirement isn't half bad!"

The following alumni have become paid-up Life Members of the Association since the last issue of the News Letter:

SPACE CRUNCH

If you completed your degree before 1960 and have had occasion lately to call the Library School for information from your educational or placement record, chances are you were told your file had to be retrieved from Archives. But don't feel too old and useless! When the School made the move from the Library to David Kinley Hall, something had to go--there just wasn't room for all the files. It became a choice of throwing out (sacrilege!) or sending to Archives any file from pre-1960. Thanks to the excellent cooperation of Maynard Brichford, University Archivist, and his staff, all our older records are now safely in the care of University Archives, but available to us when needed.

DID YOU KNOW?

Since the first library school class was graduated from the UI in 1898, there have been 5,961 degrees awarded. These include 20 AB, 363 BLS, 1838 BSLS, 39 BS, 3530 MS, 86 CAS, 2 DLS, and 83 PhD degrees. Only the MS, CAS, and PhD are now awarded.

Life memberships were first established in 1925. Since that time, 618 alumni have paid their $25.00 (no, the amount has not changed in 55 years). Money from life memberships goes to the endowment fund; the interest has been used primarily for the Katharine L. Sharp Fellowship.

This will be an important meeting, as explained in the following letter. If you are going to San Francisco, please make every effort to be there.

THE LIBRARY OF THE
JUL 27 1981
UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS
LIBRARY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

DEAR ALUMNI:

As you are aware, the Library School Association has been suffering from relative inactivity during the past few years. Many of us are concerned that one of the oldest alumni groups on campus not be allowed to die of inertia. Among its principal values and functions has been communication with alumni, bringing news of both the School and fellow graduates; this has been accomplished primarily through a newsletter, which is sent to all alumni of the School. It has also been instrumental in providing endowment funds for awarding the Katharine L. Sharp Fellowship.

After much consideration, we have concluded that perhaps the best way to revitalize the Library School Association is to affiliate with the university-wide Alumni Association. At present 34 department, school, and college alumni groups are "Constituent Associations" of the UI Alumni Association. The Library School Association remains one of perhaps two alumni groups to exist separately. We believe we can breathe new life into it through an affiliation with the University of Illinois Alumni Association. Further, it should be less confusing for our graduates to be asked to join one, not two, UI alumni organizations.

As requirements for constituent association status, the Library School Association would have to maintain elected officers and directors, elect a member to the UI Alumni Association Board, have someone act as liaison between the two associations and the School, hold at least one meeting a year, publish one newsletter annually, and promote special events, awards programs, continuing education programs, etc., to benefit its members.

Currently the costs of membership in the UIAA are as follows:

One-Year Memberships:

Single - $9 Husband/Wife - $10

Life Memberships:

Single - $150 (cash) or $160 (installments)
Husband/Wife - $175 (cash) or $185 (installments)

The amount of individual dues credited to constituent associations by the UIAA is currently the same as the Library School Association annual dues --$2.00. Additional reserve funds are available from the UIAA if needed. Of further benefit to the Library School Association would be the unquestioned use of the University's non-profit organization bulk rate postage permit and services of the mailing center, printing services, and accounting services handled by the UIAA office. Additional benefits you would receive, should you enroll as members of the UIAA, include all their newsletters and communications, discounts on group tours, discounts on University Press publications, and advance notice of ticket sales.

Those of you who have life memberships in the Library School Association would continue to have full voting privileges. However, we cannot in all conscience ask the UIAA to accept you as full life members without paying their dues. The $25 you paid to the Library School Association (an amount established in 1925 with the amendment relating to endowment funds) has been deposited with the University of Illinois Foundation as endowment funds for providing fellowships and awards. None of it is transferable to the UI Alumni Association. At present about 120 of the approximately 600 living life members of the Library School Association are already life members of the UI Alumni Association. An additional 40 or 50 of our life members pay annual dues to the UIAA. We do not have a count of the number of other alumni who are either life or annual members of the UIAA.

Future additions to the endowment fund would have to be direct gifts for that purpose, since new life member dues would go directly to the UIAA. It is anticipated that all current assets of the Library School Association would be transferred to the endowment funds administered by the UI Foundation, prior to becoming a constituent association.

The Executive Board of the Library School Association will make the following motion at the 1981 annual meeting:

The Executive Board moves that the University of Illinois Library School Association request approval of its charter as a Constituent Association by the Board of the University of Illinois Alumni Association.

Should this motion be approved, it will be necessary to circulate a petition to secure the signatures of 25 persons who are both alumni of the School and members of the UIAA; the petition will then be forwarded to the UIAA Board requesting appropriate action.

With approval of the above motion, the Executive Board will also move to replace the Constitution of the Library School Association with new Bylaws, as printed in this News Letter and notice of the annual meeting.

LIFE MEMBERSHIPS DONATED

Through the generosity of Thelma F. Passo (BS '40) of San Bruno, California, life memberships in the Library School Association were awarded to four members of the May 1981 graduating class. The four students selected by the faculty as most deserving were Susan Beck, Mary Lageson, Scott Parsons, and Jean Shrier. Miss Passo, in making the gift, said she considered her life membership "one of the best investments I have made," and wanted to share this opportunity with others.

KATHARINE L. SHARP FELLOWSHIPS

The Library School Association first set up an endowment fund in 1925, when it established life memberships. Income from this investment has been used for the Katharine L. Sharp Fellowships, which were first awarded in 1933/34. There have been 36 recipients of the Fellowship over the past 47 years. Most recently, it has been awarded to David Zubatsky, Evelyn Fitzgerald, and Beth Hartman Treaster.

THE CHANGING NATURE OF REUNIONS

Two variations on alumni reunions have recently been suggested. One is to have a cocktail party/reunion at ALA Midwinter meeting. The other-- which is going into effect on a grand scale for many library schools at the San Francisco ALA annual conference--is a joint reunion of a large number of schools. A huge ballroom has been reserved, with each school being assigned one or more tables or sections of the room. Tickets will be sold to cover the cost of snacks, and there will be a cash bar for drinks. Because of the need for a business meeting, the UI Library School Association opted for a private reunion this year.

We would like to know how our alumni react to these ideas. Would you like to see the Library School Association schedule a meeting at ALA Midwinter? Would you enjoy participating in a joint reunion with other library schools? Please give us your views via the "Membership Notice" form at the end of this News Letter.

The Library School Association News Letter is published annually in Urbana, Illinois.

DEATHS

Dear Alumni:

WELCOME TO PHILADELPHIA

As current president of your Alumni Association, I look forward to welcoming Illinois alumni to my home city, Philadelphia, during the ALA Conference in July.

The alumni cocktail party and business meeting is set for Tuesday, July 13, starting at 5:00 P.M., and will be held at the newly-renovated building of Drexel University's School of Library and Information Science. The School is within walking distance of Convention Hall and is easily reached by public transportation.

The location to keep in mind (clip this article now for your ALA file!) is Thirty-Third Street just north of Market. From Center City take a west-bound "D" or "42" bus on the Chestnut Street Transitway between 8th and 18th. If you board west of 18th, the route is on Walnut Street. Get off at 33rd and walk north for two blocks. To return to Center City take the "D" or "42" bus on Chestnut Street one block from the School.

Confirmed urbanists can also reach the School via the Market Street subway to 34th Street, or the subway-surface cars (yes, Philadelphia has street cars) from City Hall to 33rd Street, but I do not encourage this. Or, you might do as I do and walk between Drexel and Center City. It's only one mile, and we don't have those troublesome San Francisco hills!

Seventeen schools competed for the Grand Award that James E. Vermette, president of the UI alumni group, will receive on behalf of the association July 16 at the CASE national assembly.

The association, made up of alumni of all three UI campuses, also won second-place recognition in three sub-categories--electronic media, alumni continuing education and service to institution.

Library School Association Board Meeting

Annual Meeting At Dallas ALA Conference A Success

The Board met June 24, 1984 in Dallas prior to the Alumni Reception and the Annual Business Meeting and in Urbana on September 15, 1984. Perhaps the most significant news at the June 24th meeting was that Edith Elizabeth Hague (BLS '18) remembered the Library School Association in her will. The exact amount has not yet been determined, but it is expected to be between $30,000 and $40,000. The board discussed possible uses for the money when it becomes available and decided at the September 15th meeting that 20% of the funds be invested to produce income for membership activities such as receptions, special awards, and newsletter expenses. The other 80% of the funds will be invested to establish a named professorship in the Graduate School of Library and Information Science. Until the fund has accumulated a sufficient amount of money to support a named professorship, the board proposes to utilize half the income from the fund to support a "distinguished speakers program," which could include outstanding alumni, and return the other half of the income to the fund to increase the principal. The Board also voted at its September 15th meeting to approve an allocation of $350 to support the participation of a current GSLIS student at the IFLA (International Federation of Library Associations) meeting in Chicago (August, 1985). Other action included the establishment of a committee to explore the possibility of an Alumni of the Year award. The secretary-treasurer was instructed to invest the bulk of the Association's funds and to place these investments with the University's Alumni Association. This is consistent with the transition of the Library School Association from an independent association to a constituent association of the University's Alumni Association.

Several hundred alumni, faculty, and friends of the GSLIS attended the Library School Association Annual Meeting held during the Alumni Reception in the Dallas Hilton on June 24, 1984. The 1983-84 President of the Association, Robert W. Oram (MS '50), presided. The slate of nominees (see list of current officers below) was approved by the members present. Many felt the large turnout was due to scheduling the reception on Sunday evening rather than Tuesday, as had been done at past ALA conferences. Your Association is planning on a Sunday reception for next year's meeting at the ALA Conference in Chicago. Let us hear from you if you have a preference for another day. Details of the Chicago reception will be announced in the spring of 1985.

THE 100TH GSLIS DOCTORATE AWARDED

President's Message

I am delighted to serve as President of the University of Illinois Library School Alumni Association and look forward to working with the other Board members this year.

We are currently planning the University of Illinois Library School Alumni reception that will take place during the American Library Association Conference in Chicago in 1985. We are also investigating the possibility of holding similar receptions during both the SLA (Winnipeg, Canada - June, 1985) and ASIS (San Diego, California - October, 1985) Annual Conferences. Eventually we hope to add alumni receptions at other annual library association meetings as well.

This year will be a challenging one for the Board as we work to strengthen the Library School Alumni Association and in turn the University of Illinois Alumni Association. We greatly appreciate your support.

Janice Johnson Wernette
M.S. 1977

Over 100 students have earned a doctorate in library and information science since it was established in 1948. It is difficult to determine who the "100th doctorate" is because there are several ways the completion of the doctorate might be calculated. Nine people have received the doctorate from the Graduate School of Library and Information Science in 1984. We issue a list of doctoral recipients, but these are listed in alphabetical order, not chronologically by date of graduation within the year. (doctorates are awarded in January, May, and October.) In this alphabetical listing, John Olsgaard, who did his dissertation on "The Relationship Between Administrative Style and the Use of Computer-Based Systems: An Attitudinal Study of Academic Library Professionals" will be the 100th doctorate listed. In terms of the date of the final defense of the dissertation, Jeanette Drone, whose dissertation was entitled "A Study of the Relationship Between Size of Monographic Collections and Internal Duplication in a Select Group of Libraries Using LCS (Library Computer System)," was the 100th person to successfully defend the doctoral dissertation. In terms of the deposit of the completed dissertation at the Graduate College, Chandra Prabha, who did a dissertation entitled "A Comparison of Scatter of Citing and Cited Literature for the Subject of Desalination," was the 100th person to deposit a GSLIS doctoral dissertation. This is an involved way of saying that it is not especially important who is the 100th person to receive the doctorate. What is important is that one hundred people who have earned the doctorate at Illinois in library and information science have done much to contribute to our profession as teachers, scholars, and practicing librarians and information scientists. The complete list of recipients of the doctorate in 1984 from the Graduate School of Library and Information Science are:

William Aguilar — "Relationship Between Classes of Books Circulated and Classes of Books Requested on Inter-library Loan"

Richard Blue — "Content Duplication Among Documents on Specific Subjects"

Jeanette Drone — "A Study of the Relationship Between Size of Monographic Collections and Internal Duplication in a Select Group of Libraries Using LCS (Library Computer System)"

John Howell — "The Concept of 'Development Literature' and the Establishment of Criteria for the Creation of a Development Data Base"

John Olsgaard — "The Relationship Between Administrative Style and the Use of Computer-Based Systems: An Attitudinal Study of Academic Library Professionals"

Jaime Pontigo-Martinez — "Qualitative Attributes and the Bradford Distribution"

William Potter — "Collection Overlap and Diversity in the Illinois (Library Computer System) Network"

Chandra Prabha — "A Comparison of Scatter of Citing and Cited Literature for the Subject of Desalination"

Carol Tenopir — "Retrieval Performance in a Full Text Journal Article Database"

We look forward to their contributions and the contributions of all those to follow. If you would like more information on our doctoral program, please write to the Graduate School of Library and Information Science, 410 David Kinley Hall, 1407 W. Gregory Drive, Urbana, Illinois 61801, to the attention of Terry L. Weech, Coordinator of Advanced Studies. A list of the recipients of the GSLIS doctorate and the dissertation titles from 1948 to date is available upon request.

ALA Student Chapter Activities

Some recent alumni may have been members of the ALA Student Chapter while in school. We thought all alumni might appreciate hearing about the activities of the student chapter. The Student Chapter of the American Library Association (the second in the nation—incidentally, Michigan beat us to it) was originally organized in 1981. The 1983-84 officers were: Evelyn (Becky) Brown (Chairperson), Mark McKnight (Co-Chairperson), Mary Elling (Funds Officer), Jim Edstrom (Program Committee Chair), and D. Anna Shotts (ALA Conference Committee Chair). Walter Allen is Faculty Advisor to the Chapter. There were two other general meetings to plan programs—a highly successful bake sale (the usual fundraiser), and several program meetings. The first of these was a talk about Librarianship in the Philippines in the 80s by Catalina Diluvio, former head of the library school at the University of San Carlos, Cebu City, the Philippines—presently a doctoral student at GSLIS. Another interesting program took place on May 2, when Eve Merriam spoke on "The Censorship of Children's Books." A well-known author (The Inner City Mother Goose: Growing Up Female in America and several volumes of poetry among other writings) Ms. Merriam has had a great deal of personal experience with censors, especially in regard to The Inner City Mother Goose. An added fillip was the fact that Ms. Merriam is the mother of Dee Michel (MS '84), then a student in the School. The third program—sponsored by the Chapter—was on children's library service. Two speakers, Sandra Harris (MS '76), of the Urbana Free Library, and Carol Batty, of the Champaign Public Library provided a realistic view of the current status of children's services in public libraries. The Chapter also co-sponsored with the Special Libraries Association Student Chapter a session on writing resumes. Becky Brown, Chapter Chairperson, was selected to participate in the ALA student staff project at the ALA Annual Conference in Dallas. All in all, the ALA Student Chapter had an active and successful year in 1983-84. In future issues we hope to have reports from the Special Libraries Association and the American Society for Information Science student chapters.

The Association Needs Your Contributions

In 1981 the membership of the Library School Association present at the Annual Business Meeting in San Francisco (1981 ALA Conference) approved the motion for the executive board to petition the University of Illinois Alumni Association for Constituent Association status. Since we are now a Constituent Association of the University of Illinois Alumni Association, we can no longer accept separate membership in the Library School Association. All former members of the Library School Association and new graduates of the School will continue to receive the News Letter, but all are encouraged to join the University of Illinois Alumni Association. The Library School Association receives approximately 20% of your membership dues if you indicate affiliation with the Library School Association. We also encourage your direct support of our Association through direct contributions. These contributions help support our receptions at ALA and other professional associations, the Katharine Sharp Scholarship Fund, the publication of the newsletter, and other association activities.

News Letter is published annually by the University of Illinois Library School Association, 410 David Kinley Hall, 1407 W. Gregory Dr., Urbana, IL 61801. Items for inclusion and change of address notices should be sent to Rita Bartholomew at the above address. Editor: Carol Penka. Faculty Representative: Terry Weech.

ARE YOU A MEMBER OF THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION?

Charles Davis, dean, to step down next August

Charles H. Davis, dean of the UI Graduate School of Library and Information Science, will step down from that position to return to teaching and research effective Aug. 21, 1985.

Davis made his decision known to former chancellor John E. Cribbet and to Edwin L. Goldwasser, vice chancellor for academic affairs, in a letter this past summer.

Davis said he found "insufficient time" for his professional activities. "I can think of no better time to announce a voluntary resignation than when things are going well," he said.

The school he heads is ranked first among its peers in the United States and Canada. It is one of the nation's oldest library schools and the first to be founded in the Midwest.

"Its master of science program recently was reaccredited for the rest of the decade by the American Library Association. In addition, the school has been favorably reviewed by the Committee on Program Evaluation (COPE)," Davis said.

"We have successfully recruited bright young tenure-track faculty and we are attracting, graduating, and placing students in record numbers."

Davis, 46, was appointed dean in 1979, succeeding Herbert Goldhor, who bore the title of director.

A native of Indianapolis, Davis holds three degrees from Indiana University—a bachelor's in chemistry and physics, and master's and doctoral degrees in library and information science. He also studied toxicology at Indiana and chemistry at the University of Munich, West Germany.

Before assuming the deanship at Illinois, Davis was dean of the Faculty of Library Science at the University of Alberta, Canada. He also has been on the faculties of Indiana and Drexel universities and the University of Michigan.

Davis began his career as a chemist, working as an editor for Chemical Abstracts in Columbus, Ohio, in the early 60s. Automation was just beginning there and Davis was fascinated by the technique of computer-based information retrieval, now called information science. He went back to school to earn degrees in the then new subject and has been a leading authority in the field for many years.

He is the author or co-author of such books as "Information Retrieval and Documentation in Chemistry," "Guide to Information Science" and "Illustrative Computer Programming for Libraries," and numerous technical articles. He also serves on the editorial and advisory boards of two journals. "Microcomputers for Information Management" and "Library Hi Tech."

Davis served as president of the American Society for Information Service, 1982-83, and currently is a consultant to the National Science Council of Taiwan.

In 1982 he received the Louise Maxwell Award given by the alumni association of the Indiana University School of Library and Information Science.

Cribbet wrote Davis, "It has been a pleasure to work with you during my term as chancellor, and I congratulate you on your many achievements, both personally and for the school. I am particularly pleased you plan to remain at the UI and that we will have your services in many capacities in the years ahead."

Goldwasser said, "This is a good time for me to say, once more, how much I appreciate the excellent job you have done as dean of our Graduate School of Library and Information Science. You have gained the confidence of your faculty and they appear to have developed . . . that mutual respect which is so essential to a strong academic unit."

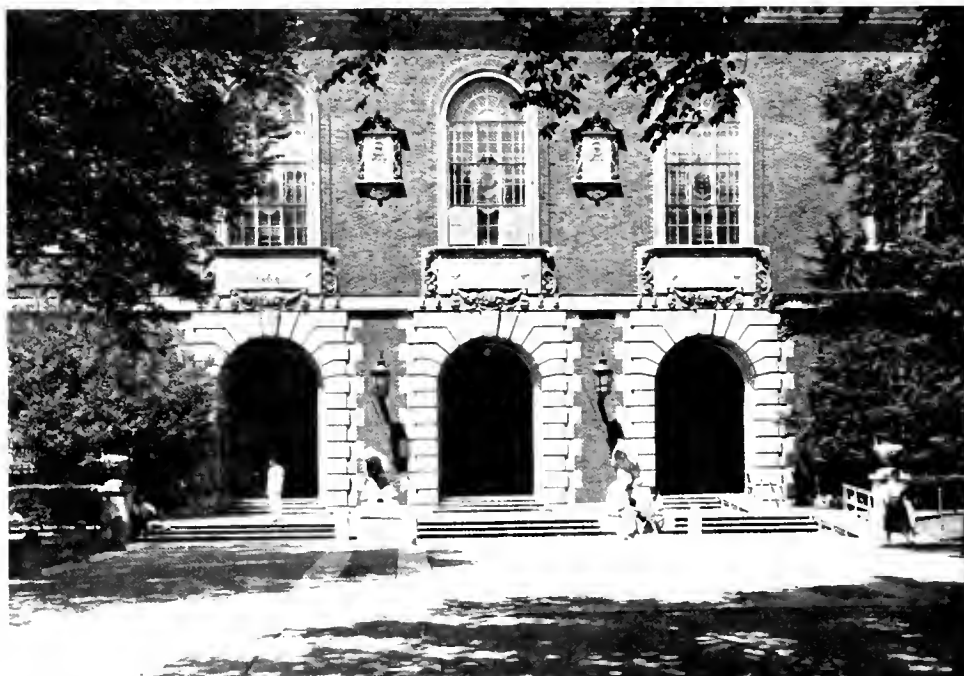

Donald Krummel, chairman of the school's executive committee, said, "In my opinion, Dean Davis's most significant contributions have probably been in promoting the established pre-eminence of the Illinois library school. He has been particularly valuable in publicizing our cause in the communities of information scientists.

"His expertise in computers has added valuable equipment to the resources of this school, which in turn has supported a broader potential for research and course offerings."

The University of Illinois LIBRARY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

Reception to Honor New Dean

The Library School Association, with the assistance of the University of Illinois Alumni Association, will hold a reception at the American Library Association Midwinter meeting in Chicago, Saturday, January 18, 1986. Alumni and friends of the Graduate School of Library and Information Science will have an opportunity to meet Dr. Leigh Stewart Estabrook, the new dean of GSLIS. The reception will be held in the G.A.R. rotunda of the Chicago Public Library Cultural Center from 5:00 to 7:00 p.m.

Leigh Estabrook is currently associate professor at the School of Information Studies, Syracuse University and associate editor of Book Research Quarterly. She received her A.B. in history from Northwestern University, her M.S. in library science from Simmons College, and her Ph.D. in sociology from Boston University.

Her publications have focused on issues of social and technological change and its impact on libraries. She has also worked jointly with Kathleen Heim, formerly assistant professor at GSLIS, on a study of career patterns and sex discrimination in librarianship. She is currently involved in research on the impact of information technology on the library labor force. She is also serving as consultant to the State Department in an evaluation of how technological innovation is affecting work in the U.S. embassy in Bonn, Germany. She has also served as consultant to public, academic, and special libraries.

The Chicago Public Library Cultural Center is located at 78 East Washington Street (Washington Street between Wabash and Michigan). The Washington Street entrance to the center will be the only entrance open on Saturday evening.

Association Annual Meeting

The meeting and the reception following were supported by funds from the University of Illinois Alumni Association and C. Berger and Company, an information management consulting firm, which is located in Wheaton, Illinois. Over three hundred alumni and friends attended. LSA President Jan Johnson Wernette (M.S. 1977) conducted the business meeting. The revisions to the bylaws were approved, and the slate of officers was elected. Patrick Hayes, who represented the University of Illinois Alumni Association, welcomed the alumni and guests. The 1985-86 officers of the Library School Association are as follows:

EDITH HAUGE BEQUEST

Edith Elizabeth Hague (B.L.S. 1918), who died in 1979, left the Library School Association nearly half of her estate. The LSA board has decided that 20% of the funds be invested to produce income for membership activities such as receptions, special awards, and newsletter expenses. The other 80% of the funds have been invested to establish a fund to endow a named professorship in the Graduate School of Library and Information Science. Until the fund has accumulated a sufficient amount of money to support a named professorship, half the income from the 80% will be used to support a distinguished speakers program. The other half of the income from this portion of the bequest will be returned to the fund to increase the principal. Several hundred thousand dollars is required to establish a named professorship. The LSA board has targeted a named professorship as one of its long term goals.

Edith Hague began her library career as the assistant in charge of continuations and serials at the Kansas State Agriculture College in Manhattan, Kansas (now Kansas State University). After serving two years each as reference librarian at the Spokane (Wash.) Public Library and at Oregon State Agriculture College (Corvallis), she spent the next twenty-one years as a librarian in government service with the U.S. Veterans Administration. During the last five years of her career, she worked as a cataloger at the military Air Transport Service in Washington, D.C. After retirement from her interesting and varied career, Miss Hague lived in Charlotte, North Carolina.

The association is most appreciative of the bequest and looks forward to the constructive programs for the school and its alumni that such a gift will provide.

LSA Name Change

At its September meeting, the LSA board discussed changing the name of the Library School Association. The present name neither reflects the expanded role of the graduates in information science nor does it indicate that it is an association for GSLIS alumni. If you have suggestions regarding the possible change of name for the association, drop us a line. The board has appointed a committee to review the association's bylaws and to consider the possible name change. We hope to have a report from that committee by the 1986 annual meeting in New York.

GSLIS Initiates Annual Fund Drive

The Graduate School of Library and Information Science and the Library School Association are working together on the first fundraising campaign for the school. The LSA board has approved the establishment of a Development Committee, which is chaired by Jerry Wicks, LSA President. Some Alumni may have already received a letter from Jerry regarding the fundraising effort. Others will be receiving letters in the spring of 1986.

As GSLIS alumni we have been supportive of the school in the past. Our contributions have done much to sustain its excellence. As the profession becomes more involved with the cutting edge of new technology and explores innovations in library and information science through research, more support is needed. We hope the annual fund effort will result in the financial support necessary to maintain the special advantage we as graduates of the school have had by experiencing a school built on excellence in teaching and research. When you receive the request to participate in the annual fund drive, we hope you will participate.

Stevens in Retirement

Rolland Stevens (Ph.D. 1951) officially retired from the Graduate School of Library and Information Science in 1980. Although in good weather he reserves Monday for golf, Dr. Stevens has not stopped being professionally active. He is as busy as ever and is seen around the campus almost as often as he was before retirement. He co-authored Reference Work in the Public Library (Libraries Unlimited, 1983) with Joan M. Walton, director of adult services at Champaign Public Library (Ill.) This collaboration resulted from Dr. Stevens' desire to have the information dispensed in his classes and in his books reflect the "real-life" informational needs of reference librarians. For many years Joan talked to Prof. Stevens' classes on reference sources they don't tell you about in library school. Then they worked together on the book.

Dr. Stevens' next book, co-authored with Linda Smith, is soon to be published by Libraries Unlimited. Titled Reference Work in the University Library, it is his second book in three years. Professor Stevens has the distinction of holding the very first Ph.D. degree granted by the University of Illinois Graduate School of Library and Information Science. Therefore, it is appropriate that he is featured in our first column of News Notes about Retired faculty.

Lest it seem that Dr. Stevens' life is all work and no play, he assures me that gardening, bridge, and woodworking play a significant role in his retirement. Also he and his wife go dancing several times a month.

Professional Association Alumni Receptions

The LSA board plans to explore the possibility of sponsoring alumni receptions at professional association meetings and conferences, in addition to holding the LSA annual business meeting and reception at ALA. Although the LSA board has not been actively involved in hosting receptions at these meetings, it recognizes that GSLIS alumni are active in such associations as SLA, ASIS, and MLA. We need to know if there is sufficient interest among GSLIS alumni who are willing to make local arrangements for the meetings and to coordinate the planning of the gatherings. If you would like to become involved or if you would just like to make suggestions, contact Terry Weech, Faculty Liaison to the Library School Association. Terry can be reached at (217) 333-0646. ASIS STUDENT CHAPTER ACTIVITIES

The Student Chapter of the American Society for Information Science had an active 1984-85 academic year. Chapter officers were: Kris Szymborski, Chairman; Linda Gruber, Vice Chairman; Brenda Nott, Secretary; and Tony Stukel, Treasurer. Linda Smith is the chapter advisor, and Debora Shaw filled in while Dr. Smith was on sabbatical.

The Chapter presented 14 lunch discussion forums that were attended by GSLIS students and faculty. Topics presented by GSLIS students included "Control of Information in a Totalitarian Society" by Kris Szymborski, "A Keyword Index to Periodicals for Engineering Library Users" by Jim Graves, "Use of LCS to Analyze Library Collections" by Linda Gruber, and "A Discussion of Indexing Practices (or Lack Thereof) in the Field of Parks and Recreation" by Pete Cookingham.

Karen Markey from OCLC spoke on "Using the Dewey Decimal Classification System in Constructing an Online Classified Catalog." U of I faculty were also represented. William Mischo, Engineering Librarian, spoke on OCLC; Cathy Salika, FBR Project Leader, spoke on the Full Bibliographic Record System in the U of I online catalog; and Paul Pomes, Systems Analyst at the computer center, spoke on computer security.

GSLIS faculty presented forum sessions as well. Charles Davis, past president of ASIS, provided an introduction to the society; J. Divilbiss discussed the importance of training in automation for librarians; F.W. Lancaster spoke on bibliometrics; and Linda Smith discussed artificial intelligence.

The ASIS student chapter sponsored a one-day microcomputer workshop and a picnic. It also convened a joint meeting for students from the University of Chicago and Indiana University student chapters of ASIS. This meeting featured talks by Frank Spaulding, ASIS Treasurer, on "Tomorrow's Library Today" and Martha Williams, Editor of the Annual Review of Information Science and Technology, on several current areas of research.

HOST NEEDED FOR GSLIS ALUMNI RECEPTION AT 1986 ALA IN N.Y.

The LSA usually uses the facilities of one of the ALA conference hotels for its annual business meeting and alumni reception. Because of increasing hotel expenses, the board is exploring alternatives. Some schools hold their receptions at facilities which are made available at minimum cost to alumni who are associated with that particular firm or agency. If you have access to a reception facility which will permit catering of refreshments and will accommodate between 150 and 200 people, let us know. We need to make our decision on the facility by February of 1986. So get in touch with us as soon as you can if you have any suggestions.

Speakers Program

The Distinguished Speakers Program committee was presented to the LSA board for approval at the July 1985 meeting. Betsy Wilson will chair the committee. Terry Weech, faculty liaison, John Dunkelberger, Urbana (Ill.) Free Library, and Nancy Newell, Carle Foundation (Urbana, Ill.) Library are the committee members. The committee is charged with developing guidelines and policy for the program. Information on similar programs has been gathered for the use of the committee. The first committee meeting will be in November. The first speaker will probably be named for a fall 1986 program. Comments about the program should be addressed to Betsy Wilson, U. of I. Undergraduate Library, 1408 West Gregory Dr., Urbana, IL 61801.

The News Letter is published annually by the University of Illinois Library School Association, 410 David Kinley Hall, 1407 W. Gregory Dr., Urbana, IL 61801. Items for inclusion and change of address notices should be sent to Robin Caton at the above address. The editor of the News Letter is Carol Penka.

SLA Student Group Activities

The Special Libraries Association (SLA) Student Group, which was established in 1971 to provide students with a means of learning more about special librarianship, continues to be active. Officers for the 1984-85 academic year were Ruth Riley, Co-President; Dawn Hamilton, Co-President; Sandra Reynolds, Secretary; and Robert Quartell, Treasurer. Linda Smith is the group's advisor. Margaret Chaplan, U of I Labor & Industrial Relations Librarian, served as advisor for spring semester 1985 during Professor Smith's sabbatical.

The SLA Student Group regularly sponsors such activities as speakers, tours of local special libraries, and trips to visit special libraries elsewhere in the state. In addition, members sometimes attend meetings of the SLA Illinois Chapter. Major events for the 1984-85 academic year included a field trip to Chicago, a panel discussion, and a review of the 1985 SLA Annual Conference. Libraries visited in Chicago were the Newberry Library, the Chicago Tribune editorial and marketing libraries, and the library of the Art Institute. Special librarians contributing to the panel discussion were Carolyn McMahon (MS '80), librarian with the ERIC Clearinghouse of the National Council of Teachers of English; Barbara Roberts, Director and Archivist of the Champaign County Archives; and Linda Panovich-Sachs, Assistant Engineering Librarian at the U of I. Two U of I librarians, Margaret Chaplan and Lucille Wert (PhD '70), shared their impressions of the SLA Annual Conference in Winnipeg with interested students.

The University of Illinois LIBRARY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

Downs reflects. . .

The Ultimate Bibliophile — Books Changed His World

From a one-room schoolhouse in the hills of North Carolina, to directing one of the world's largest libraries, Robert Bingham Downs has enjoyed a lifelong love affair with books. En route, he has collected stacks of awards, six honorary degrees and the "Second Class of the Order of the Sacred Treasure" from the government of Japan.

"No librarian has reached such a wide audience," says his Clarence Day Award from the American Library Association, "and no librarian has made a richer contribution to an understanding of books for their enjoyment and for their significance in our time."

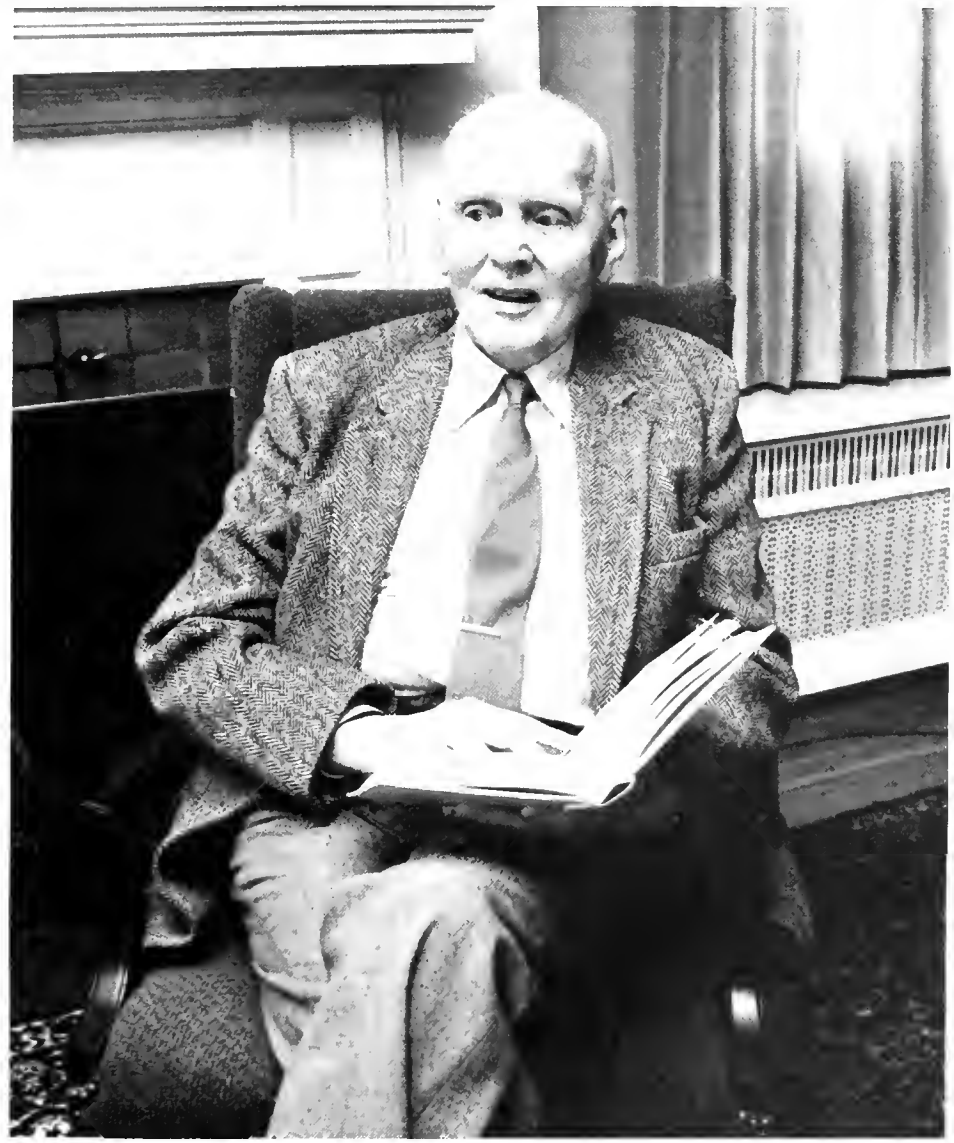

At 82, the distinguished author, educator and administrator is still busy promoting the idea that "certain books have had a profound influence on history, culture, civilization and scientific thought throughout recorded time."

And he's still outspoken about "disturbing trends" in the field of librarianship.

Dean emeritus Downs spent almost three decades shaping the world-famous UJ Library; before that, he built collections at the University of North Carolina and New York University. Widely known as a crusader for intellectual freedom, collection development and faculty status for librarians, Downs ranks at the top in his field.

"Few librarians in this century have mastered the profession so completely, and fewer still have shared their convictions and judgments so extensively," said Arthur P. Young, in a chapter on Downs in the new book, "Leaders in American Academic Librarianship: 1925-1975."

Share Downs has. As an author, he has written about 40 books and 400 articles during his 60-year career. Still going strong, Downs is now spreading his famous "power of books" message in two new volumes, "Perspectives on the Past: An Autobiography," and "Books in My Life."

His "best-seller" is "Books That Changed the World." Published in 1956, translated into 17 languages, expanded and revised twice, "Books" has sold several million copies.

"A pirated Chinese edition, published 10 years ago in Taiwan, sold 50,000 copies alone," he said, "and I've been told the book is now required reading for the master of arts degree at Johns Hopkins University."

The book was so popular it created a demand for sequels. In the next 15 years Downs followed it with "Books That Changed America," "Molders of the Modern Mind," "Books That Changed the South," "Memorable Americans" and "More Memorable Americans," to name a few.

In 1960, he published "The First Freedom." A reviewer called it a "fighting book, whole-hearted in its repudiation of censorship and un intimidated in naming and assailing the opposition."

In recognition of his war against censorship, the UI Library in 1968 established the Robert B. Downs annual award for outstanding contributions to intellectual freedom in libraries.

In another realm, Downs parlayed a lifelong interest in tall tales and folk humor into "The Bear Went Over the Mountain," "American Humorous Folklore" and other books.

In his long career, Downs presided over the major library associations including the American Library Association, and also took on consulting assignments — he calls them "foreign missions" — on five continents. For his work in developing the Japanese National Diet Library after World War II, he recently received the prestigious "Second Class of the Order of the Sacred Treasure."

Despite prodding from associates, Downs was slow to write his own story, which was published in 1985. He explains why in the autobiography.

"Perhaps I have been deterred . . ." he said, "by an impression that an autobiography is a kind of swan song — one's final act as an author, when all that one can hope to accomplish as a writer is finished. That is definitely not true in my case."

Indeed, since the autobiography, Downs has produced "Images of America," a compilation of accounts by famous people of their travels through the United States, to be released later this year. He is also talking about expanding an essay on scientific taboos and superstitions.

Books won Downs' heart at an early age. A farmboy, he eagerly plowed through Shady Grove School's book collection, which, luckily for him, continued to grow thanks to proceeds from the annual box supper. He was doubly fortunate as books were stored in his home during the summer.

When Downs was 10, he won a spelling bee at Shady Grove. The prize — a copy of Aesop's Fables — made a strong impression on him and to this day remains one of his all-time favorite books. Five years later, his family moved to Asheville, where the Pack Memorial Library "opened up a new world of books for me," and he devoured a book a day.

Despite, or perhaps because of, the reading, Downs dropped out of high school for two years, "gaining considerable breadth of experience" as a fire ranger, telephone repairman, construction worker and rancher.

He continued, however, with books that were an education in themselves. With only nine years of formal schooling, he entered college, earning a bachelor's degree from the University of North Carolina, and a second bachelor's and a master's degree from Columbia University.

After stints at Colby College, North Carolina and New York, Downs came to Illinois in 1943 as director of its library and library school. Promoted to dean of library administration in 1958, he served in that role until his retirement in 1971.

Following World War II, Downs began building foreign acquisitions, with emphasis on such areas as Slavic and East European, Far Eastern, Latin American, and African and Afro-American studies. Today, these collections are regarded as among the best in the United States.

He was also "passionately committed to acquiring and holding valuable books," Young said. When three items from the library's premier Milton collection were stolen several years ago, Downs received phone calls from the thief demanding a ransom. When the police turned up no leads, he took matters into his own hands.

He persuaded the original book dealer to put up the ransom and arranged a secret meeting with the thief, exchanging the books for money.

"The FBI thought I had done the wrong thing and that I should have reported to them. But I had been assured by the burglars that if I made any attempt to catch them, they would destroy the books. I preferred to have the books back rather than catch the thieves," he said.

A recent report on the university's collection development program said, "During his 28-year tenure, the University Library grew to its present position as one of the world's greatest research libraries, the third-largest American university library and the largest state university library. The achievement of this national and international prominence can in large measure be attributed to Downs' leadership."

In his autobiography, Downs lashes out at those younger librarians who are "preoccupied with the science of management, computers and automation, or in some cases simply with gadgetry."

These people "lack enthusiasm for the printed word and the desire to serve the reader." Downs said. "From all indications, some chief librarians would be as happy and perhaps more successful in managing a supermarket as a university library."

He also criticizes the current fad of downgrading "the importance of books while preaching the false doctrine of the obsolescence of paper and print."

"We've been hearing this since the book was invented in the 15th century," he said. "I think there's no chance of it ever happening."

"Throughout my life I have tried to emphasize that you can't replace books," he said. "They have a unique place in our lives and society."

1987 Data Processing Clinic, April 5-7 1987

This year's topic for the annual Data Processing Clinic is the "Impact of Automation on Reference and Information Services." Reference work in libraries of all types is being transformed by the availability of sources in electronic form (e.g. machine-readable databases) which supplement printed sources and paper files. Over the past decade there has been a substantial increase in the number of databases, the types of databases (nonbibliographic vs. bibliographic), and the search systems providing access to these databases. More recently new formats have been introduced, with databases on CD-ROM for local use supplementing databases accessible through telecommunications links. These new sources offer an opportunity to extend reference and information services, if librarians can learn how to use them effectively.

Demonstrations and speakers are among the activities. The Proceedings of the conference are published by the Publications Office of GSLIS. Professor Linda Smith is conference coordinator, and can be reached at 410 DKH, GSLIS, University of Illinois 61801; 217-333-7742.

Alumni Events

GSLIS Scholarships

Last Spring's First Annual fundraising for GSLIS totalled over $5,000 from alumni contacted. A follow-up campaign in November reached additional GSLIS graduates.

Priorities for gifts include scholarships for students, support for school conferences and workshops, and aid to faculty for travel and research. Although well over fifty per cent of GSLIS students who request financial aid receive support from scholarships, fellowships and assistantships, we have many capable students who struggle with the expenses of graduate life.

Future Annual Fund efforts will take place in October. A very special thanks to those who have sent contributions. We welcome comments, questions and communications of all sorts from our alumni.

Alumni Party in San Francisco

The University of Illinois Graduate School of Library and Information Science will hold a gala alumni party at the ALA Annual Conference in San Francisco. Mark your calendar and save Sunday, June 28, 1987 from 9-12 p.m. for a ride on the Harbor Queen around the Bay area. Oers d'ouvres, entertainment, a cash bar and some of your oldest and dearest friends will be there. Tickets for the event are $25, payable to the GSLIS Alumni Fund, 410 DKH, 1407 West Gregory Drive, Urbana, IL 61801. Bus rides will be arranged from conference hotels, and are included in the ticket price. Don't miss the fun and company of this event. For additional information call or write Shari West or Gary Rolstad in the GSLIS office (217-333-3280) at the address listed above.

Alumni Reunions

A GSLIS Alumni Reunion was held at the Medical Library Association Conference in Minneapolis on Monday, May 19, 1986. Patrick W. Brennen, director of libraries at the Medical College of Wisconsin, was coordinator of the reception plans. Phyllis and David Self were co-hosts. The reception was held in a suite at the Hotel Luxeford.

Alumni reunions were also held at Special Libraries Association in Boston and the American Society for Information Science in Chicago.

Distinguished Speakers Program

The first Distinguished Speakers Program will be held on Saturday, April 11, 1987, in the Levis Faculty Center on the campus of the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Robert Wedgeworth will give a lecture entitled "Libraries, Learning, and Literacy in Latin America."

Robert Wedgeworth graduated from the GSLIS in 1961. From 1972 until 1985 he served as executive director of the American Library Association. He was named dean of the Columbia University School of Library Service in September 1985.

The Distinguished Speakers Program is funded by the Edith Elizabeth Hague, BLS '18, Bequest made to the Library School

Association of the University of Illinois. In 1985, the Library School Association Board approved the use of a portion of the income from the endowment to support the Distinguished Speakers Program. The purpose of the Distinguished Speakers Program is to sponsored annually one or two outstanding speakers in library and information science or related fields to give a presentation to alumni, students, library school faculty, and other members of the professional library community. The lectures are meant to address pertinent issues in the field and are not to be restricted to any specific issue or theme in library and information science or related disciplines.

Library School Association NEWS LETTER

In honor of the publication of issue number 100, the editor has gleaned the following news items from the editor's backfiles of the Library School Association News Letter.

LIBRARY SCHOOL HYMN

A group of 27 met on the second morning of the convention of the Texas Library Association to honor Illinois and Mr. [P.L.] Windsor, who was guest speaker at the 25th anniversary of the association.

The following hymn composed by Arthur R. Curry, '16, librarian of the Rosenberg Library of Galveston, was sung for the first time.

LIBRARY SCHOOL HYMN

Sacred to loving hearts,
stands our alma mater,
Born of devoted lives, nurtured with love,
Guiding her children, guided from above.
Strong with the strength of right,
gracious in her beauty,
Loyal in thought and deed,
valiant for truth,
Counting her treasure
what she gives to youth.
Through all the coming years,
how shall we adore here?
How but in better lives, built by her aim?
Be all her children worthy of her name.

SALARY STATISTICS

For a number of years the University of Illinois Library School has collected from its former students, statistics on salaries and positions. These have been published about every three years in the News Letter and present an interesting picture of salary trends.

The last tables in 1930 represent probably the peak in the library salaries. Before that the trend was slowly up and since then rather rapidly down. It is impossible to make these tables show a true picture of the whole salary situation for the figures are taken only from blanks returned, and many Alumni did not reply and some who replied omitted the salary. Out of 1127 in active work, there were 834 replies which could be used. As usual some of the Alumni whose salaries fall in the higher brackets did not return their blanks.

The peak first year registration of the Library School was in 1930 with 152 students and in 1931 with 134 students. Since then the registration has been held down to about 60 in an effort to relieve the placement problem. This has meant that applicants were rejected each year, and not that there has been any appreciable decrease in the numbers seeing to enter the profession.

Table 1 gives the average salaries for men and women who have taken the one and two years course since 1917. This shows clearly the rise to 1930 and the decline since the depression. Figures in parenthesis give the number of replies.

AVERAGE SALARIES FOR MEN AND WOMEN

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

As the University of Illinois is planning to celebrate the seventy-fifth anniversary of its founding on March 2, 1943, our [planning] committee decided to celebrate our fiftieth anniversary on the same date, thus making it a double celebration for the Library School. Our tentative plans provide for a one-day meeting ending with a reception or dinner in the Illini Union. Because of the conditions due to the war, Professor T.C. Pease, chairman of the University committee, informed us that their program will be limited to the holding of a University convocation and to the publication of the history of the University which is near completion.

THE SCHOOL IN WARTIME

The University of Illinois Library School entered upon its fall session under conditions quite different from the ordinary. Classes began on October 13, a month later than usual, because of the change to a school year of three sixteen week semesters, necessitated by the University accelerated educational program. Library School students share study tables and other library facilities with khaki-clad young men of the Army Specialized Training Program, here for the special study of foreign languages and areas, and with blue-clad young men of the Navy's V-12 program. Between classes their progress along the campus walks is frequently halted by lines of soldiers marching to class. Among civilians, young women are noticeably in the predominance.

The effect of the war is felt in the Library School enrollment, which totals fifty-one students. Besides these, twenty-three undergraduate students are enrolled in the course for teacher-librarians and thirty-one in the course in the use of books and libraries.

U. OF I. LIBRARIANS GAIN FACULTY STATUS

After thirty-three years under state and University civil service systems, the University of Illinois professional library staff this fall [1944] begins a new status. Following long study and discussion by the Library administration, the University Civil Service Committee, and the University administration a recommendation was made by President Willard, at the June 22, 1944 meeting of the Board of Trustees, to include professional librarians in the academic staff of the University, thereby removing them from the civil service organization.

No. 35, October 10, 1944

SUMMARY OF REPLIES TO THE V-J DAY QUESTIONNAIRE

On V-J Day the Library School office mailed 159 letters and questionnaires to alumni in the armed forces and in war work. By the first of November a fair sampling of replies had been received in spite of difficulties with the mails and in spite of the fact that most of these people were probably much too busy to be bothered with questionnaires.

The School was interested primarily in two things: to prepare itself to give efficient and rapid placement service to alumni as soon as the discharge pin was fastened into the lapel of a new suit; and to plan its educational program with reference to the needs of those alumni who would be interested in further study.

With very few exceptions, alumni on leave are not interested in returning to former positions. The reason is easy to see when one learns of some of the things our G.I. alumni have been doing during the past three years or so. Many have been assigned to positions of great responsibility, and others have earned recognition for important achievements. They are, therefore, ready for much more responsible and challenging positions than those they left during what must seem to them like the Middle Ages before the war.

RECORD ENROLLMENT

The total number of students, 336, enrolled in the various curricula of the Library School this semester is the largest in the School's history. There are 136 taking the library science courses on the Urbana campus, including those in the teacher-librarian and biological literature courses. Fifteen of these are registered in courses leading the B.S. degree, 65 for the M.S. degree, and 9 for the new Doctor of Library Science degree. Two of the 9 are devoting full time to their studies in the doctoral programs, Rolland Stevens, B.S.L. '40, A.M. '43, formerly assistant to the librarian, Rochester University Library, and Howard Winger, B.S.L.S., Peabody '45, M.S. Illinois '48, formerly stack librarian, University of Illinois Library.

Extension courses in Chicago include 31 candidates for the M.S. degree, while those in Dixon, Ottawa, and Rockford have enrolled 169 candidates for the B.S. degree.

AUDIO-VISUAL PROGRAM

In order to meet a growing demand for librarians who have been properly trained in the use of films, radio and recordings, slides, exhibits, displays and other so-called audio-visual aids to study and training, the Library School has enlarged its regular field work schedule to include a laboratory program of practical study and work experience with such materials. Assistant Professor C. Walter Stone, specialist in audio-visual and adult education, is directing the new program, known as the Demonstration Laboratory.

Training in this "Eye and Ear" Laboratory is open each semester to a limited group of students selected on the basis of professional qualification and need. Certain types of research projects are also sponsored; for example, a pilot survey of the film holdings of university, school, and public libraries in the state of Illinois, now nearing completion. This study will form the basis for a union list as well as provide data for a number of specialized studies.

Student Chapter Activities

The student chapter of Special Libraries Association took a field trip to Springfield on November 6. They toured the Illinois State Library, the Illinois State Museum Library and the Southern Illinois University School of Medicine Library. Twenty students participated in the twelve-hour event. The cost of transportation was provided by the chapter.

On November 18, GSLIS students participated in the annual bus trip to the headquarters of Hertzberg-New Method, Inc., in Jacksonville, IL. This company is the commercial bindery which binds library materials for the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign Library. The trip included a complete tour of the expanded binding operation at Hertzberg and lunch as guests of Hertzberg-New Method.

The ALA student chapter sponsored a talk on October 16 by Randy Wilson, executive director of Parlin-Ingersoll Public Library in Canton, IL. He also serves as president of the Illinois chapter of Junior Members Round Table. Mr. Wilson shared his experiences as a new librarian and pointed out the benefits of membership in professional organizations. Parlin-Ingersoll Public Library actively supports innovative forms of public service to its library patrons, and it is in the forefront of promoting public access to microcomputers.

ALA President Regina Minudri Speaks To Student Chapter

Regina Minudri, Director of Berkeley, California, Public Library, spoke to the GSLIS ALA Student Chapter on November 22, 1986. Minudri was also in attendance at the Allerton Park Institute, and was a featured speaker there as well. In both talks she lauded the skills librarians bring to the management of public institutions.

The title of her talk to students was "Diversity: The Challenge to America's Libraries." She focused on the idea of libraries being responsive and involved in their communities. Libraries and librarians remain vital and vibrant despite rapid changes in society, she said. She spoke of the importance of involvement not only in professional organizations but also within the political and social arena to let it be known we are a part of the life-blood of the community.

Librarianship as a career, she said, is a choice of commitment and challenge. Minudri inspired thought and purpose in all her listeners. She is President until the annual conference in July 1987, when ALA meets in San Francisco.
